NEW SENATE STRUCTURE PROPOSED

Senate Re-Structuring Details

The Student Senate has passed a proposal to "accept the concept of a five-man executive council and a twenty-four man, elected, legislative council." The twenty-four man legislative body would consist of 6 senators elected from each class, and any student is qualified to run. From the 24-man legislative council a speaker of the council will be elected to sit on the executive council. The speaker of the council plus the four elected officers of the student senate will constitute the executive council.

With the Senate now in agreement as to the structure of the proposed changes, it is now the responsibility of the restructuring committee to rewrite the Senate constitution. Once the constitution has been rewritten it must be ratified by the Student Senate, student body at large, faculty, activities committee, and administration. It is important to note that until the time when a new constitution is approved, the student governing body will operate under the provisions of the old constitution.

The idea of restructuring the Senate was first publicly mentioned by the past President of the Senate. It is felt by some that the present Senate is very undemocratic because only the campus organizations have representation. If you do not belong to an organization, you do not have representation. Also, many organizations never discuss Senate matters and though a student may be represented, he may never have any part of the say in how his organization votes.

Contributing causes to the need for restructuring are the facts that absenteeism is abundant in the present Senate, committee volunteers are at an all time low among senate members, and a 60-man senate (as it is now) makes for a large unmanageable body that frequently debates over nothing and decides little.

The Senate vote to approve the proposed structure changes is as follows:

The Graduate School — One Year Old

By David Daniel

The graduate school program, a major concern of most seniors, was discussed with Dr. Lebovitz, Dean of Bryant's new Graduate School. This new M.B.A. evening program came into existence in September, 1969, with seventy candidates. By the Spring semester, enrollment had risen to ninety, and presently the number has grown to one hundred seventy — thereby doubling its enrollment in less than one year.

Dr. Lebovitz cited certain admission requirements for applicants to the graduate program. The first criterion is a bachelor's degree from an accredited college, with a cumulative B average. All candidates are required to take the Admission Test for Graduate Study in Business (ATGSB). Once the candidate's application has been evaluated, the Graduate Office will schedule a personal interview. The Graduate Office does, under exceptional circumstances, grant conditional admission. After completion of six hours of graduate credit at Bryant with a minimum B average, these students may apply for regular admission in the graduate program.

The graduate program of study is divided into graduate foundation courses, and graduate advanced courses. The number of required credits ranges from thirty to forty-eight, depending upon how many, if any, graduate foundation courses are waived by the Dean of the Graduate School. This will be determined after an individual evaluation of the candidate's academic background and professional experience. The final twenty-four hours of advanced work must be taken at Bryant. A minimum of a cumulative B average must be attained. No grade below C is acceptable for graduate credit. A student has a maximum of six years to complete his M.B.A., but generally he is finished in three years. Courses are offered in both Fall and Spring semesters. Those

Senate Announcements

Nominations for Senators at Large for the Student Senate will be available in the Activities Office as of October 5, 1970. The nomination papers should be completed and turned in by October 9, or given to any Senator before that date. The new Senators at Large will be elected from those candidates who return the papers before the deadline and may number up to eight Senators at Large.

Also, nomination papers for Freshman Class Officers must be returned to the Activities or Senate Office by 5:00 P.M. this evening.

J. E. Hoover Warns of Radical Enticements

WASHINGTON—(CPS) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, in an "open letter to college students" issued at the opening of the fall school year, has "pinpointed eight ploys used by radical extremists in their efforts to steer justifiable campus protest into violent and destructive channels."

"The vast majority of you," says Hoover, "I am convinced, sincerely love America and want to make it a better country." But, Hoover warns, radicals from SDS (including Weathermen), Young Socialist Alliance (YSA), the Communist Party's young Workers Liberation League (YWLL), Student Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam (SMC), or "many (who) are not associated with any national group" are trying to lure unsuspecting campus angels into their ranks by capitalizing on student dissent. Hoover, apparently not concerned with "lures" to black students, failed to mention the Black Panther Party or any other black group, even though the Panthers are the FBI's number-one target.

Hoover listed eight ways that "extremists will try to lure you into their activities":

*"They'll encourage you to lose respect for your parents and the older generation. This will be one of their first attacks, trying to cut you off from home. You'll hear much about the 'failures' and 'hypocrisy' of your parents and their friends. The older generation has made mistakes but your parents and millions of other adults worked hard, built, sacrificed, and suffered to make America what it is today. It is their country too. You may disagree with them, but don't discredit their contributions.

*"They'll try to convert you to the idea that your college is 'irrelevant' and a 'tool of the Establishment.'" The attack against the college administration often is bitter, arrogant, and unreasoning. SDSers, for example, have sought to disrupt the colleges by demanding the right to select professors, determine the curriculum, and set grading standards." (horrors!)

*"They'll ask you to abandon your basic common sense. Campus extremism thrives on specious generalizations, wild accusations, and unverified allegations. Complex issues of state are wrapped in slogans and cliches. Dogmatic statements are issued as if they were the final truth. You should carefully examine the facts. Don't blindly follow courses of action suggested by extremists. Don't get involved in a cause just because it seems 'fashionable' or the 'thing to do.' Rational discussion and rational analysis are needed more than ever before.

*"They'll try to envelop you in a mood of negativism, pessimism, and alienation toward yourself, your school, your Nation. This is one of the most insidious of New Left poisons. SDS and its allies judge America exclusively from its flaws. They see nothing good, positive, and constructive. This leads to a philosophy of bitterness, defeatism, and rancor. I would like you to know your country more intimately. I would want you to look for the deeper unifying forces in America, the moods of national character, determination, and sacrifice which are working to correct these flaws. The real strength of our Nation is the power of morality, decency, and conscience which rights the wrong, corrects error, and works for equal opportunity under the law.

*"They'll encourage you to disrespect the law and hate the law enforcement officer. Most college students have good friends who are police officers. You know that when extremists call the police 'pigs' they are wrong. The officer protects your rights, lives, and property. He is your friend and he needs your support.

*"They'll tell you that any action is honorable and right if its 'sincere' or 'idealistic' in motivation. Here is one of the most seductive of New Left appeals — that if an arsonist's or anarchist's heart is in the right place, if he feels he is doing something for 'humanity' or a 'higher cause,' then his act, even if illegal, is justifiable. Remember that acts have consequences. The alleged sincerity of the perpetrator does not absolve him from responsibility. His acts may affect the rights, lives, and property of others. Just being a student or being on campus does not

What Commies Said 51 Years Ago

If you think most of the problems that beset the world and our nation today just happened that way; if you think it is a natural trend born of the modern age; if you think that it will suddenly all dissolve when we, the people, get tired of being bothered, then read an excerpt from a file of "Communist Rules for Revolution," published before 1919. The file was obtained by the armed forces in Dusseldorf, Germany. These were the instructions issued to those who were to bring about world revolution:

"A. Corrupt the young, get them away from religion. Get them interested in sex. Make them superficial, destroy their ruggedness.

"B. Get control of all means of publicity and thereby:

(1) Get people's minds off their government by focusing attention on athletics, sexy books and plays, and other trivialities.

(2) Divide the people into hostile groups by constantly harping on controversial matters of no importance.

(3) Destroy the people's faith in their natural leaders by holding the latter up to contempt, ridicule and obloquy.

(4) Always preach true democracy but seize power as fast and ruthlessly as possible.

(5) By encouraging government extravagance, destroy its credit, produce fear of inflation with rising prices and general discontent.

(6) Foment unnecessary strikes in vital industries encourage civil disorders, and foster a lenient and soft attitude on the part of government toward such disorders.

(7) By spacious argument cause the breakdown of the old moral virtues; honesty, sobriety, continence, faith in the pledged word, ruggedness.

"C. Cause the registration of all firearms on some pretext with the view of confiscation of them and leaving the population helpless."

This quite definitive treatise was first given public notice when it was printed in the Bartlesville, Oklahoma, Examiner-Enterprise. Printed but no one gave it much thought. Just fifty-one years later those who were given the plan of attack can check full 100 percent success in their efforts. We are sure there is now another such set of instructions, going on from where these left off. This time past history presents full reason to be concerned, if not completely frightened. Your enemies are patient but thorough. Your greatest enemy, however, is your disregard of the danger signs. —Concrete (Wash.) Herald.

Draftees' Death Rate Higher Than Enlisted Men According to Study

Washington — (CPS) — Army draftees have almost twice as high a chance of being killed in Vietnam as non-draftee enlisted men, according to a U. S. Army study.

During 1969, draftees were killed at the rate of 41 per 1,000 and injured at the rate of 203 per 1,000, while first term enlistees were killed at the rate of 17 per 1,000 and injured at the rate of 120 per 1,000.

The reason draftees tend to be killed at a much higher rate is that the Army, in a procedure different from previous wars, allows men who enlist for three years to choose what job they want. Because of this, draftees who make up 56 percent of the men entering the Army, tend to make up a much higher percentage of combat units.

William K. Brehm, assistant secretary of the Army for manpower and reserve affairs, explains that "the popular jobs are the ones for which people enlist. They don't enlist for the hard-core combat skills. That is why draftees tend to populate the hard-core combat skills: 70 percent of the infantry, armor and artillery are draftees."

A Defense Department manpower expert, who refused to be quoted by name, told a reporter for National Journal, a newsletter which requested the Army study, that "we've studied this problem very carefully. People don't deem to enlist in the Army to fight. We recognize the inequity this causes in a shooting war, but we don't know what to do about it."

College graduates are slightly less likely to be assigned to combat duty but there are no figures separating draftees from enlistees among college graduates. 36.2 percent of the graduates who entered the Army in 1969 were assigned to combat jobs, compared with the overall rate of 43.3 percent. 61 percent of the graduates were draftees.

The higher death rate of draftees in Vietnam would have been ended by an amendment to the military procurement bill, which would have barred the sending of draftees to Vietnam unless they volunteered to go. The amendment, authored by Sen. William Proxmire, (D-Wisc.), was rejected by a vote of 22-71.

The Army says it has no figures on the chances of a draftee serving in Vietnam, but other figures indicate that 8,000 draftees are sent to Vietnam each month. The monthly draft call has been running about 10,000. 30 percent of all draftees then in the Army were serving in Vietnam on July 1, compared with 25 percent of first term enlistees.

Many persons, including Sen. Proxmire, feel that the three-year enlistees should not be able to opt out of combat while draftees must fight; the Army is apparently unwilling to remove the provision because enlistments might drop, forcing a drastic rise in draft calls. "As strange as it sounds," Brahm said, "only 800 young men a month out of 200 million Americans are enlisting for combat. If we went to an all-volunteer force in Vietnam, it's quite conceivable that that's all we might get."

Bryant Instructorirate Over Martha Mitchell's Statements

Martha Speaks

It seems that Attorney General Mitchell's wife, Martha, is at it again. She recently telephoned a reporter in reference to an article that appeared in a national magazine, to express her irritation over the article.

During the course of the conversation she made the following remarks: "The academic society is responsible for all of our troubles in this country. These are people that are destroying our country." When asked which particular segment of the academic community she was referring to she stated, "the whole academic society is to blame . . . the professors in every institution of learning."

"It makes me sick at my stomach. They're a bunch of sidewalk diplomats that don't know what's going on. They don't have any right to talk."

"Why, some of 'em can't talk as well as I can and I can't talk very well. There are more repercussions in our society today because of them," she said. "They are totally responsible for the sins of our children. The academicians have not taken care of our children. They are at fault for a whole generation of children."

Several weeks ago aboard

Air Force One, Attorney General Mitchell joined the press section aboard as his wife Martha was elaborating on the Vietnam war. When asked if he'd like to hear what she had to say, he replied, "No. I might want to jump out the window."

Instructor Replies

After reading the above statement in a news article which appeared in a local newspaper, Mrs. Joan Marsella, Instructor of Social Sciences, wrote the following:

"Martha Mitchell is a salient example of what the American Woman of reason and intelligence does not want to be. She is the direct opposite of the image for which enlightened women are striving."

"This middle-aged haridan, with her disastrous Alice-In-Wonderland cosmetic exterior and her Xantippe interior, has sabotaged the combined gains of all women's organizations in America. Females seeking recognition for the exercise of their brains do not murder their husbands' public images."

"Her undisciplined emotional capacity is a threat not only to all women in America but to society itself. Hers is not even a 'teacup' mentality; as to the contents of her cup when she made her ill-advised call to the newspapers, one can only speculate!

"Professors do not have right to talk," she stated. Who determines rights? Martha and her friends? Wives of Gestapo agents proudly displayed their lamp shades made of human skins whose original owners had been sacrificed to another fascist group. Martha seems to like lampshades with ivy league insignia.

"Talk is the tool of human thought; language is the index of the development of society. Without language there is no thought and obviously that is what La Mitchell wants—just blind obedience to a police state. When's your next book-burning, Martha?"

"College professors are not entrusted with the care of 'children,' but are associated with young adults whose minds are not yet stultified."

"Socrates chose the hemlock cut rather than more Zantippe verbiage; did you say you wanted to jump out the window, John?"

Guest Editorial

WTIC—HARTFORD

April 16, 1970

Hartford was treated this week to the spectacle of 2,000 demonstrators screaming obscenities and painting four-letter words on themselves . . . all in the name of humanity.

The rally of the alleged peace lovers in Bushnell Park was a rally of young and not-so-young who are against the war . . . but not against violence. It was a rally of those who oppose bombing Vietnam villages . . . but favor the bombing of American cities. It was a rally of those who cry out against pollution . . . except when the sources of the pollution are their own mouths. It was a rally that did absolutely nothing for the cause of peace, a rally of those who would welcome war in our own streets.

Should this assault on decency ever develop into a full-blown revolution, it will mark the first time in the history of mankind that the aristocracy ever made revolution against the downtrodden.

For these young men and women are the idle rich. They do not work. They contribute nothing to the general welfare. They live off the labors of others. They are the product of parental permissiveness made possible by a prosperity they deride, by a system they want to see destroyed.

They scream "more power to the people," but they care nothing for the people. They lash out at the beliefs the people hold sacred. They mock the people's moral code. They are pleasure seekers whose excesses are more worthy of the court of Nero or Louis XIV than of Twentieth Century America.

But above all, they are our children. and they cause us sadness and shame.

Letters:

Thanks For Parietals

It was with much pleasure this week that I announced to the dorm presidents our new parietal system. As you can all clearly see the responsibility to make these parietals work is with each individual. With this in mind I urge every resident on campus to use his or her discretion in the use of their dorms parietals. If any problems arise, consult your dorms governing board so that problems can be solved before they become acute.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all the dorm presidents, especially Danny Kahn, Stu Cohen, and Susan Caudy without whose help these parietal hours would never have come about.

Remember, the responsibility is yours.

Sincerely,

Edward Metcalfe
President, Dormitory Council

No More Check Cashing

The volume of check cashing has increased to a point at which the Business Office can no longer continue this service effectively.

The two basic factors which lead to this decision were the security problem created by the constant need for ever increasing amounts of cash and the student traffic situation which have made it most difficult to conduct business as usual during check cashing periods.

There are now two banks within convenient walking distance of the College and arrangements have been made to honor student checks (up to $25.00) upon presentation of a student identification card. Further, students may open an account at no cost and thus avail themselves of all the services which the bank provides. Citizens Savings Bank is located at Brook and Waterman Streets and R. I. Hospital Trust National Bank at Thayer and Angell.

The College's discontinuance of the check cashing service is intended to be temporary since a banking facility has been planned for the new campus in Smithfield.

Servitium Club Organized

Gentlemen:

A new club has been organized at Bryant College. The name of this organization is the Servitium Club. It has been organized by students interested in Institutional Management.

The main purpose of this association is to prepare students for a career in one of the many facets of the Institutional Management field. By bringing together people with similar interests, the club will orient students and direct them toward successful business careers.

The Servitium Club requests that the Student Senate of Bryant College recognize this organization.

Very truly yours,

Insights

by Alan Kluger

September 28, 1970, will be looked upon, in the future, as the beginning of a functional student government at Bryant College. In the chambers of the Student Activities Building, the Legislative Council, with much opposition from some Greeks, passed a motion to restructure the Student Senate, and rewrite a more workable constitution.

In the past the Student Senate had been composed of representatives from clubs, fraternities and dorms. Frequently, one person represented as many as five different organizations and voted accordingly. This presented the problem of a vested interest, in that, many times a representative would be concerned with conflicting views. He was responsible for his own personal view, those of his fraternity brothers, fellow club members, dorm-mates, and even his pinmate who threatened to tighten up unless . . . !

The new proposed structure calls for 24 representatives (6 from each class) to be elected by and from the student body as a whole. These 24 Senators would be responsible for serving as the bona fide messengers of their fellow classmates to serve the interests of Bryant College as a whole. By having direct representation and a smaller group of people to work with, it would be inevitable that the machine of student government could begin to work effectively for the first time at Bryant College.

There is one stumbling block in the path of progress. That, unfortunately, is the refusal of many fraternities and some clubs to forget their own selfish needs in the hope of bettering Bryant. Some feel that they are losing the firm hold they once held at this college while others feel this is a subversive plot to undermine Greek popularity. However, the prevailing fact is that if the Greeks really are sincere in their desire to continue to be active, they are certainly encouraged to run for these open seats. For many years the Greeks have been the mainstay of student government and community service. They have raised much money, initiated much needed reform, and have been the social nucleus of college life. Why then, can't they continue to serve Bryant as in the past by supporting and encouraging this latest attempt at progress.

I sincerely hope that all the fraternities will re-evaluate their present positions and join in to help push Bryant College head first into the '70s. Without the support of the Greeks the new Senate will not function; with Greek support, the Student Body of Bryant College can begin to formulate an effective voice that will play a leading role in school and community affairs for years to come.

TKE and PKT To Hold Hall Party

Phi Kappa Tau and Tau Kappa Epsilon are having a hall party tonight to start off the Greek year with a blast. There will be a live band and plenty of liquid refreshment. Buses will leave the front of the Union at 7:30 p.m. and return at midnight. Admission is: guys $1.50 and girls $1.00. Directions or maps can be found on fliers or obtained from any brother of PKT or TKE. Everyone is invited for a great time.

Abortions Available

The Women's Pavilion is a service that may be of interest to you. It aids patients in obtaining complete and superior abortion care in some of New York's finest hospitals at a low price.

Women's Pavilion began with the passage of the bill to legalize abortion in New York. Many hospitals and doctors feared that administrative problems involving both local and out-of-state patients would provide an unbearable strain on their limited facilities. Women's Pavilion was established to provide centralized administration and coordination to these hospitals and doctors. By doing all the administrative work for the hospitals and by taking all patients immediately, W.P. is able to relieve the hospitals burden as well as accommodate patients with the minimum of cost and inconvenience. Where hardships exist, "service cases" are provided for organizations that regularly refer cases.

A caller to W.P. will be asked the length of pregnancy, her age, and the soonest date convenient for the operation. She may select a doctor or be assigned one. These physicians are all board qualified or certified specialist in gynecology and obstetrics. She will be told which type of operation (D & C or Saline) would be suitable for her and the procedure for payment of services. Open House

At the last Student Senate meeting it was decided that another Senate Open House will be held in the near future. The feeling that another open house is necessary is due to the poor results of the open house which was held last week. There were approximately eight or nine organizations that participated in the event by making a display. No more than 25 students, other than the students working at the displays, came to see the displays. Clearly, the evening was anything but successful.

Reuben Abraham, President of the Student Senate, has accepted full responsibility for the failure of that evening. There can be no question to the fact that the office of the President of the Senate is the ultimate focal point of responsibility for all Senate activities. Notwithstanding, a question may be raised as to how much responsibility may be focused on any individual.

So far this year, there have been two Senate meetings. At both meetings it was stated that there was a need for Senators to volunteer for committees. The response at both meetings was negligible. The participation of the Senators, excluding a few unique individuals has been non-existent in all Senate activities. Practically all of the work accomplished by the Senate this year has been done by the four officers of the Senate. Bearing these facts in mind, it seems less than objective to blame any person for the failure of the Senate Open House. Any blame should rest on the entire Senate.

The present structure of the Senate places too much responsibility on the officers of the Senate and not enough responsibility on the individual Senators. For this reason, the Senate must be re-structured. The newly proposed concept of six Senators elected from each class, without the automatic appointment of a Senator from the various organizations of campus, is the best proposal submitted thus far in keeping within the goal of a more responsible Senate. While there is no guarantee that this plan is the best possible structure, no better plans have been submitted and something must be done.

If anyone feels that he has a better plan for restructuring the Senate, he should come forth with his proposal now. Otherwise, he should support the proposal as it now stands.

Anti-Ky Demonstrations Planned For October 3

WASHINGTON—(CPS)—Washington area activists have called for a mass demonstration and subsequent "non-violent civil disobedience" in protest of the appearance of South Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky at a right-wing pro-war rally on October 3.

Under the slogan of "Fund the People, not the Dictators," the call represents the first national anti-war action that centers on the effects of the genocidal war in Vietnam on black, brown, and other poor people here at home.

The action calls for a mass rally at 10 a.m. on Saturday, Oct. 3, in front of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. Afterwards, those "well-disciplined people who want to take non-violent direct action to express their outrage, indignation, and revulsion against Ky the war criminal" will march from HEW to the site of the prowar rally at the Washington Monument, and will attempt to place Ky under citizens' arrest for his war crimes, which include the genocide of his own people and the extortion of money for that purpose. The details of this strategy are still being worked out by the demonstration planners, but will be announced as soon as they are finalized.

Considerable and heated arguments developed during the course of the meeting aimed mainly at the Trotskyists, who controlled the meeting by choosing who get to speak. SMCer Sharon Naiman, who chaired the meeting, was accused of calling only on speakers in favor of the SMC proposal — "Trot ringers," was how one vociferous Yippie referred to them. That challenge led into a lengthy procedural battle which eventually added a member of the Youth International Party to the platform. Meanwhile, Gurewitz took over as chairman while the meeting degenerated into a sort of parody of a radical decision-making process.

The division that occurred at that meeting, and the peace movement generally, centers around whether or not anti-war actions should be tied to the issues of racism and repression in America and whether any action should be planned that endorses civil disobedience or mass confrontation. The Trots' line at the meeting, as it always has been, was that the main objective in organizing this action should be to build up the "anti-war movement." Therefore, nothing should be done to alienate the millions in the "mass of American people" who are potential demonstrators, who might take their first step to vocalize their opposition to the war by marching in a peaceful rally. The Trots organize around one slogan — Bring the Troops Home Now; and generally oppose dealing with racism, poverty, repression, etc. at peace demonstrations.

The other side of the argument is that the peace movement — if it is going to seek to change the society which produces racism, political repression, and economic deprivation, as well as war — must surpass the narrow confines of the anti-war movement, which has been a student-oriented, white, middle-class, white-collar movement since its inception.

"We have to make it clear that when we're in the streets," said Davis at the meeting, "we are joining with black and brown people in this country in their struggles, as well as the people of Vietnam."

The rally at HEW is seen by its organizers as a way to relate an anti-Ky, anti-war, anti-Nixon rally to the issues here at home — inflation, racist institutions, poverty, and starvation, all of which are a direct result of the same system which supports the military dictatorship of Thieu/Ky in South Vietnam.

The scenario for the civil disobedience, which hasn't been mapped out publicly at all, is meant as an effort to risk arrest in order to protest Ky's appearance, and the Nixon administration's complicity in Ky's American trip. "If Nixon really wanted Ky kept out of the country," said Peck at the press conference, "he could do it. No other known trafficker in drugs could get a passport except Ky." Ky was caught with 450 pounds of opium smuggled from Laos on a CIA-backed airline in 1964.

The defeat of the SMC-SWP-YSA proposal marks the first defeat of the group in controlling or at least having a major voice in Washington mass demonstrations. They were very heavily involved, together with New Mobe and others, in last year's Moratoria in October and November. And the National Peace Action Coalition (NPAC) which was formed at a Trotskyist-dominated "Emergency Conference on Cambodia, Laos, and Vietnam" in Cleveland last June, has called for Oct. 31 to be the major fall anti-war action — a mass action similar to the two Moratoria.

The Trotskyist group will probably not support the call for the Oct. 3 action. They did cancel a press conference they had scheduled the day after the mass meeting — originally this was to have been when they announced their call for an action, but after they lost the vote, they were contemplating disassociating themselves from the demonstration. But, according to Helen Gurewitz, a member of the Washington Peace Action Coalition "our enemies are really the same — Nixon. It's just that our tactics are different." She said that any action they took to discredit the called Oct. 3 action would just hurt the peace movement.

Meanwhile, the announced Oct. 3 action will not be the only one planned for the weekend. Others include:

*The Youth International Party has called for 100,000 people to descend upon Washington Oct. 2 for a Celebration of Life in Georgetown, Washington's hip capitalism section. There will be dancing, dope-smoking and hell raising in the streets for an NLF-PRG victory in Vietnam. They will also participate in the Oct. 3 action, although Peck said at the press conference announcing the action that the Yippies, "are not part of the coalition which is planning the demonstration." YIP had called for an action that "would not let Ky speak," at the mass meeting, but deferred to Davis' plan.

*The National Welfare Rights Organization, which strongly supported Davis' action, are part of the Coalition Against War, Racism, and Repression which actually worked on devising the plan. They not only intend to support that action, but plan a series of workshops around the connected issues of the war, racism, and economic deprivation on Oct. 2. They will probably be held on area campuses and movement centers. Specifics available soon.

*The National Student Association, whose new president David Ipshin, spoke for the majority proposal, is backing a national hunger strike by student body presidents through Oct. 3, not only protesting Ky's arrival, but the persecution of Vietnamese students following Vice President Agnew's visit there two weeks ago.

Naked Truth

And so it was. That it was with Adam and Eve. That, it was not until Adam and Eve had both taken the unsanctified bite of the forbidden fruit, that each noticed that the other was nude. And so, they gathered themselves together fig leaves to clothe themselves. For, they could not face "the naked truth."

Now, it is our turn to bare to the truth, the naked truth. Presently, there are approximately 2,030 students at Bryant College. This number seems to be an expression of the steady increase of youth interest towards a college education. This also tends to show that there has been a marked increase (noticeable by overall national enrollments) in the population—meaning one thing. And of course (inter?) in order to accomplish this (for any help see either Biology instructors or "frat men"), two parties are needed.

Today, when there are over five million more women in the United States than men, Bryant College's women enrollment has been decreasing. Of the 2,030 students at Bryant College some 1,600 are males. In the secretarial program alone, the decrease in women's enrollment over last year's enrollment is over 23%. In accounting for this figure, however, it is important to keep in mind the phasing out of the four-year secretarial program. This school is attempting to make great strides to counter this tide in female enrollment by incorporating an Office Administration Major and by attempting to educate high school counselors, as well as the female students, to the important role (roll?) the woman can serve in the modern business world.

This year the change is particularly obvious by observing Rita Hoey and Curtis Halls which were previously women's dormitories (as was Dyer Hall a few years back) and are now men's. Truly, there is something missing — the women. How sad it would be for those male students out at Tupper Campus if this trend continues. Truly, after a while one might find himself giving the cows a second glance and "udder" "nicest piece of tail I've seen in a long time." And with even less to do out there than there is to do at the present Bryant campus (if that is at all possible) the welfare of its future occupants should be a question to ponder (osa?). For without Eve, where would Cain have been—and that is no rib.

Ever Heard of Qui Tam?

No, you can't get it at a Chinese restaurant. And it's not a village in South Vietnam.

Qui Tam is a venerable old legal principle which allows you, the individual citizen, to file suit in the name of the government against people who break certain laws, and then collect half of the fine for a conviction.

The idea has been getting a lot of attention lately coupled with another crusty old law called the Refuse Act of 1899, which forbids anyone or any group from throwing pollutants into any navigable waters in the United States without a permit.

"Navigable waters" are defined as rivers, lakes, streams, or their tributaries sufficient to float a boat or log at high water.

Permits are issued by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, but since the Corps has traditionally concerned itself chiefly with dredging, filling, and construction, relatively few permits have ever been issued. And those who have them (mostly industries) often violate permit provisions by dumping untreated discharges into the water.

What all this means is that now you can proceed directly to your local neighborhood industrial polluter, gather some information and samples, and then file a suit which could bring a fine of not more than $2,500 nor less than $500 for each day of violation, of which you get half. It could also get the polluter thrown in jail for not less than 30 days nor more than 1 year, which is unlikely but nice to think about.

Use of the 1899 Refuse Act and the Qui Tam concept have been strongly advocated recently by the House Subcommittee on Conservation and Natural Resources, led by its chairman, Rep. Henry Reuss (D-Wisc.). Reuss himself has filed Qui Tam actions against four polluting companies in Milwaukee.

The Subcommittee has just completed a report, "Qui Tam Actions and the 1899 Refuse Act; Citizen Lawsuits Against Polluters of the Nation's Waterways," which will be released within two weeks and will be available from the U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402 for 15 cents. It tells you exactly how to go about collecting evidence, filing suit, and cites impressive legal precedent to help you win your case.

Besides the Reuss suits, two other Qui Tam actions have been filed recently, one by a Seattle attorney and the other by an organization of bass fishermen in Alabama. Many environmentalists are hoping a lot more suits will be filed this fall.

"This is a beautiful project for college students and ecology groups," asserts Clem Dinsmore, legal assistant of the Conservation and Natural Resources Subcommittee, who helped research and prepare the report. "It's a great way to go after polluters."

Dinsmore recommends that student groups combine the talents of law schools and biology departments to keep legal fees at a minimum and quality of evidence at a maximum.

Basically, once you find a polluter to attack, you should prepare a detailed statement, sworn to before a notary public, setting forth:

- the nature of the refuse material discharged;
 - the source and method of discharge;
 - the location, name and address of the person or persons causing or contributing to the discharge;
 - each date on which the discharge occurred;
 - the names and addresses of all persons known to you, including yourself, who saw or knows about the discharges and could testify about them is necessary;
 - a statement that the discharge is not authorized by Corps permit, or, if a permit was granted, state facts showing that the alleged violator is not complying with any condition of the permit;
 - if the waterway into which the discharge occurred is not commonly known as navigable, or as a tributary to a navigable waterway, state facts to show such status;
 - where possible, photographs should be taken, and samples of the pollutant or foreign substance collected in a clean jar which is then sealed. These should be labeled with information showing who took the photograph or sample, where, and when, and how; and who retained custody of the film jar.
- This will be your basic ammunition in the suit, and should be filed in a U.S. district court, which apparently have exclusive jurisdiction to hear and decide such suits. The Supreme Court has upheld Qui Tam suits in the past on the basis that the citizen-informer has a financial interest in the fine and therefore can sue to collect it.

Actually, the 1899 Refuse Act contains a provision that suits against violators should be filed by the government, and the U. S. Attorneys should "vigorously prosecute all offenders." The U. S. Attorneys are also

Roy Lapidus Sets Two Course Records

The Bryant Cross Country team, its ranks diminished by knee ailments to Charlie Haskell and Frank Palmer, opened its 1970 season last Saturday in a dual meet with Lowell Tech. Overpowered by LTI's depth, the Bryant five succumbed to a 22-37 defeat. The highlight of the meet, however, was the record smashing run by the Indian's Roy Lapidus. Unchallenged after the one mile mark, Roy burned through the two mile in 9:54 on his way to a 22:57 clocking for the 4.5 mile course. Averaging 5:06 miles, Roy took 38 records off the field record, held by Bill Cayester of Tech, who finished seventh in this race. Completing the scoring for Bryant were Bob Armstrong, fifth; Bill Taylor, eighth; Don Macaulay, eleventh; and Irving Segall twelfth.

Tuesday, the team traveled to Bridgewater State College where BSC once again demonstrated its unparalleled prowess by fielding a one man team. Overwhelmed by the sheer force of number, the Bridgewater runner could not withstand the onslaught of the Bryant "powerhouse" and yielded the first five places to the Indians. Again Roy Lapidus finished first with a course record of 25:05 for the new 4.7 mile course, followed by Armstrong, Taylor, Macaulay and Segall.

This Saturday, October 3, at 2 p.m., the Bryant team will host Clark. New Haven, and possibly SMU on Bryant's tough 5 mile course at the Tupper Campus. Come out to Tupper Saturday, see how the construction of the new campus is progressing and lend your vocal support to your varsity Cross Country team.

authorized to seek injunctions to stop pollution of navigable waterways and to force the violators to clean up, at their own expense.

However, recent actions by the Nixon Administration, through the Justice Department, have led many environmentalists to question the likelihood that U. S. Attorneys will fulfill their legal obligations under the 1899 law. This doubt has led to emphasis of Qui Tam.

In July, the Justice Department issued a fascinating memorandum called "Guidelines for Litigation Under the Refuse Act" and sent it out to all U. S. Attorneys.

The prosecution policy statement encouraged U. S. Attorneys to use the 1899 law "to punish or prevent significant discharges, which are either accidental or infrequent, but which are not of a continuing nature resulting from the ordinary operations of a manufacturing plant." (Bold face supplied.)

The Justice Department, while acknowledging that industrial pollution posed "the greatest threat to the environment," claimed that the Nixon Administration was already hard at work to stop large manufacturers from polluting. The Federal Water Quality Administration, Justice insisted, had set up "programs, policies and procedures" to which "we shall defer with respect to the bringing of actions under the Refuse Act."

Assistant Attorney General Shiro Kashiwa of the Justice Department's Land and Natural Resources Division has stated that "we can see no justification for allowing court actions by individuals."

In short, it seemed to some environmentalists that the Nixon Administration, despite its strong rhetoric, was hedging in favor of big business and industrial interests.

Intramural Outlook

By Steve Diamond

This year must be the season of shutouts as you will soon see. Tau Kappa Epsilon knocked off Tau Epsilon Phi 15-0 as Quarterback Daughton connected to Jim Burns for a TD. Steve Barnicoat was responsible for two points as he tagged a TEP man in his own end zone for a safety. Delta Sigma Phi picked up their first victory by defeating Beta Sigma Chi 18-6. Delta Sig then chalked up victory number two by running over Phi Epsilon Pi 28-0. Quarterback George Kane sparked the offense while Craig Heil was picking off four Phi Ep passes and turning them into touchdowns. Phi Kappa Tau joined the trend by shutting out Phi Sigma Nu 25-0. Between Don Servidan's arm and Luke Hefferman's foot, KT's offense looked sharp. The passing coverage allowed PSN only one complete pass. Tau Epsilon slipped by TEP in style 3-0 on the field goal by Gary Hopkins.

I would appreciate it if one member of every intramural team would report to me at the end of each game they play. I can be located in Room 202 in Gardner Hall.

Soccer News

Under the coaching of George Ford, the Bryant College Soccer team won its first game of the season against Husson 5-1. Jim Stone, the Peruvian, scored two decisive goals in the victory. Although hampered by the rain, goalie Howie Reade held Husson to only one goal. Our game with Ricker (Houlton Maine) produced 11 goals (Bryant losing 9-2) but we could have been 15. The Indians during the course of a very rough game were awarded 5 penalty shots and converted just 1. Paul Doughty, an import from Bermuda, was the hot shot for the Indians scoring both goals.

The Indians have been hampered greatly due to the fact that they were lacking a home field. Last year's field changed ownership and was not available to Bryant for the opening of their season. Bryant had to play all their home games at their opponent's field. Without school support a team cannot be successful. The Indians will host Rhode Island College, Monday night, October 5 at 8:00. So why don't you just walk or down to Gano Street and watch YOUR team in action! It will be their first official home game.

to the next 4 highest bowlers in the league after Tuesday, Sept. 29. Varsity bowler Jay Cotler has run into difficulties on the lanes so far this year and it is possible he will not be ready for the opening tournament on Oct. 25. It is hoped that Jay can find his line and make it back to the team. The new member of the team is John. John rolled an 1164 for his first 6 games for an average of 194. He can keep this up he will be a welcome member.

Due to the Greek Letter Council Open House on Tuesday, Sept. 29, intramural bowling was cancelled. It will resume on Oct. 6 at LANG'S BOWLERAMA in Cranston. All fraternities are expected to be represented for the beginning of their season. LANG'S BOWLERAMA has accepted the invitation to sponsor this year's R. I. Invitational Tournament, hosted by Bryant College. Coach Nelson feels that with the returning punch of Morra, Wheeler, Monaco, Dunn and the added strength of Steve Big John, that BRYANT will emerge victorious in the 70-71 season.

Bowler's Corner

Another bowling season is underway with the competition as tough as usual. The first week of bowling was not handicapped in order to establish team averages. The highest team average last year was owned by Western Union. Not necessarily meaning that the higher the average the better chance of winning, Western Union won the championship last year and continued its winning ways this year by sweeping the first 4 points. Western Union consists of the same fearless foursome as last year. Phil (Wimpy) Friedman is a little below his average at 163. Bob (Cowboy) Bakerman is rolling a consistent 170. Steve (Gem) Diamond finally found his line, making the Varsity team this year with a 180 average, and the ever consistent Steve (Flash) Monaco is rolling along at 186. Also sweeping 4 points this week was the team known as the Freshman. This team however may be disqualified from the league due to the possibility of an ineligible player. It may be possible that the star of the team Bob Ladmer may be a ringier, not actually attending college. This matter is being checked out by the league administration. The fraternity champions of last year, ZBT, started the season on the losing side by only taking 1 of 4 points.

Varsity tryouts are continuing through this week and there are still 4 spots left open on the team. Definite Varsity bowlers so far are Wayne Morra, Steve Diamond, Lee Wheeler, Steve Monaco, Don Dunn, and Big John. The next four spots are open
